The justification of the request is a key area to focus on. ROC encourages you to strengthen your request by providing a robust rationale detailing all relevant criteria. When writing the rationale, keep in mind that those reviewing the justification may not be familiar with your department and needs. Providing detailed information and context can help clarify the need for your request.:

Since Fall 2022, we have greatly expanded the library's campus engagement efforts to students. In 2024-2025 academic year, we hosted more than 50 events with more than 1,300 students in attendance. While we have steadily growing student engagement at the library, a campus bookmobile service would accomplish a greater reach beyond the brick and mortar of the library, to foster a sense of belonging by bringing the library to where the students are. A bookmobile would essentially reimagine the library as a mobile space that reduces the barriers for students traveling across campus to access library services. This approach would be particularly beneficial to students with mobility challenges, chronic health conditions, recovering injuries, and other accessibility needs. Other students may not be able to visit the physical library spaces due to time constraints, or a lack of awareness where the library is located on campus. A bookmobile would bridge the gaps for students in underserved areas of campus. It would significantly expand the library program, with the bookmobile enabling services that are otherwise limited to the physical confines of the library building. Students would be able to get pop-up research help with a librarian, find out how to borrow technology devices, check out books and other library materials, and learn about the library's various online resources. Our bookmobile service would also allow us to collaborate with other departments on campus, visiting their spaces to support a meaningful library presence with relevant services and resources. We identified a need to grow our reach to LGBTQIA+ students, Indigenous students, and Latine students for example. The bookmobile would enable us to visit the Queer Student Center, the Kumeyaay Village, and the RISE Center, fostering deeper connections than we could otherwise. In addition to the golf cart, the other requested equipment would support us with creating a culturally responsive and inclusive mobile library space. We would play music to foster socializing and community, display inclusive and responsive engagement materials (e.g., stress relief materials for student mental health) and invite students to make their own buttons recently, and invite students to make their own buttons.

Program Goals: Please identify the program goal(s), as stated in your current annual or comprehensive program review, that this request would help your program achieve. Provide a brief explanation of how it would do so.

This request would support one of our program goals: Increase faculty, staff, and student engagement with and/or use of library services and resources. It also aligns with one of our SAOs: Build community engagement with the library in person and online. We assess this SAO and its mapped program review goal by collecting data on the number of library-involved outreach programs, total overall survey score for library-led events, monthly content interactions with the library's social media, and equity gap data among students after participating in library-led outreach programming.

The bookmobile service can be assessed by the number of student checkouts of library materials, feedback surveys asking what they enjoyed and what they would like to see next time, and working with IESE to collect and analyze student equity gap data with the service.
